Sandy and Pat 2014

We love our church & church family.
Pat posts pictures on Facebook.

Pat still goes to 24 Hour Fitness six days a week and did three 5Ks this year. We both wear our Fitbits, go to Weight Watchers, continue with Positive Choice -- however, Sandy needs to be more diligent about exercising.

Pat is still the Treasurer of the House of Sweden and works in the crafts group, She has long hours during the mid summer and December Nights activities.

The San Diego State University Retirees surrounds us with wonderful friends and fun activities. Something is going on just about every month from our Christmas dinner to Valentine's Day party, Borrego desert escape, the Day at Del Mar Races, & the Kentucky Derby party.

Pat enjoys her ukulele classes as well as the weekly group concerts. Oasis classes now concentrate on Richard Ledderer, our favorite.

Other entertainment was the New Year's Eve celebration with Paula Poundstone, a night of Jake Shimabukuro music, and sightseeing trips with friends and relatives. Pat took her Swedish cousins boogie boarding in Coronado.

Sandy still loves collecting -- especially buttons.

We took a bus trip to Yosemite where we got to know our new friend, Delores. She told us about a Panama Canal cruise and we have that scheduled for this coming April. At Yosemite, Sandy got a new Storyteller doll for her collection.

The California State Button Show was held in San Diego. We stayed at the Town and Country Hotel and Sandy shopped for buttons to her heart's content; Pat even bought a couple of things she found on the Ways and Means table.

Our two week trek to Hawaii was to Kauai Coast Resort and then to the Bixlers in Kailua, Oahu.
